

National Science Week 2008

3MP enjoyed investigating surface tension of water during National Science Week.

Mathew is carefully floating a paper clip on water.

How many drops of water can Mariah fit on a 20cent coin? The answer may surprise you!

Mathew caused a chemical reaction to occur when he mixed an acid with an alkali. His experiment simulated the eruption of a volcano!

Christos produced carbon dioxide when he mixed vinegar with bicarbonate of soda!